District, teachers reach contract deal

By Scott Kelly
Staff writer

In a nearly unanimous vote, Granite City teachers voted Tuesday night not to strike. Teachers were in the classrooms and not on the picket line after deciding their new contract with District 9 was a good one. The vote was 239-1.

Tom Turner, president of Granite City Federation of Teachers Local

GRANITE CITY SCHOOLS

743, said the teachers were happy with the new contract.

"They liked the 4 percent raises, the board picking up the additional 1 percent retirement costs and the three-year contract," he said. There were a few other improvements they were pleased with as well, he said. The contract also calls for allowing teachers more choices on health care benefits and increasing to six from four the number of yearly school meetings.

District officials had offered raises that were a little bit higher than agreed upon and also wanted the teachers to pick up the additional 1 percent costs for the retirement funds.

The school board is expected to approve the contract at its next meeting.

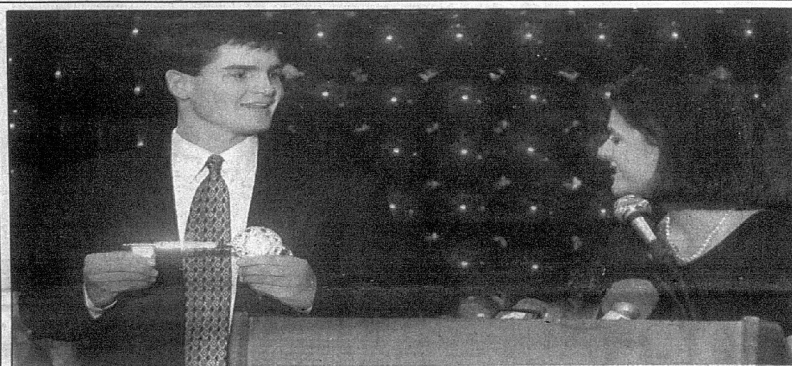

The teachers union had filed an intent to strike two weeks ago — itself nothing unusual — in the event they decided to walk after the end of contract negotiations. The teachers' contract was up Saturday night.

Both union and district representatives met with a federal mediator Friday night. After discussion on Sunday, teachers seemed happy enough with the contract that almost half of Local 743's 450 members didn't bother to vote Tuesday night.

Union leaders and district officials were confident last week a strike would be avoided because they were close initially to an agreement on most of the issues. An intent to strike had to be filed, however, in the event a strike actually happened.

If that had happened, the district was prepared to close all district schools until the matter was settled. The last teacher work stoppage was in 1988.

Area native makes the rounds after retrieving historic ball

Fate touched Tim Forneris at a St. Louis Cardinals game and it has put a new spin on his life.

But the 22-year-old Collinsville resident isn't letting his whirlwind of fame change him too much. His popularity may have soared since he scooped up slugger Mark McGwire's record-breaking 62nd home-run ball at last Tuesday's game but Forneris' ego remains earthbound.

"I'm more or less just me," Forneris said during an appearance Tuesday at Gateway Center.

Forneris was working as a groundskeeper at the stadium when he caught sight of the record-breaking ball and ran to claim it. He later presented it to McGwire in an exchange now captured in a button designed by Collinsville sports aficionado Wilma Chase.

Baseball was the theme of the Alliant Food show that used Forneris' visit in the kick-off of its two-day event. He was set up on a small stage next to a cut-out of legendary slugger Babe Ruth. He graciously autographed baseballs, newspapers and other memorabilia for person after person.

After opening the food show, Collinsville Chamber of Commerce Executive Director Pam Morris presented Forneris with a key to the city. Applauding the inscription on the key says: "The key to success is being in the right place at the right

"I'd have never made it to Disney World without them," Forneris said. In all the excitement that ensued in the hours following the lucky grab, Forneris' brother, Tim, was driving a little erratically on the (See BALL, Page 4A)

Board delays close of sheltered home

County to seek replacement for facility

By Scott Kelly
Staff writer

The Madison County Sheltered Care Home got a short reprieve Wednesday when the County Board narrowly approved separating its closure from the Madison County Nursing Home.

In a 14-13 vote, the board approved a resolution to withdraw its application to the state Illinois Health Facilities Planning Board while the county seeks a private or non-profit alternative for the Sheltered Care Home. Meanwhile, the board will continue to pursue closing the nursing home.

County Administrator James Monday explained that the county's intentions have not changed. "The idea brought to the county board is to pursue closure of the nursing home at this time by submitting additional information to the Health Services Planning Board indicating that there are sufficient resources in Madison County to provide alternatives for the remaining 29 residents," Monday said.

The additional information includes newspaper clippings and documentation of the county's efforts concerning the homes for the next part of the two-step application process with the State Board. County officials will meet with the IHPB on Oct. 1-2 to resubmit their case.

Monday reiterated that the state board has only issued an intent to deny the county's application to close the homes.

"We will work with residents and their families to find them suitable alternatives," Monday said. County (See HOMES, Page 3A)

Plans for truck route are finally in gear

GRANITE CITY

By Scott Kelly
Staff writer

A longtime wish to make 16th Street a primary truck route in downtown Granite City finally is moving forward.

After an extensive briefing by City Engineer Joe Juneau, the council Tuesday approved seeking bids for a $1.5 million project for major road repairs and sewer replacement on the street.

In 1995, Gov. Jim Edgar pledged at least $750,000 in Illinois Department of Transportation funds to be saddled with matching city and Madison County money for repairing 16th Street from Madison to Neidringhaus. The project was designed to allow easier truck access to the new Triple G line at Granite City Steel as well as to other nearby industries.

Concerns about lead contamination in 1996 halted the project. 16th Street, itself a bumpy route peppered with deep potholes, runs near a 290,000-ton, 30-acre pile of scrap lead and battery casings. The Environmental Protection Agency and several businesses are in the process of covering the pile to remove contamination dangers.

19th and 20th streets were suggested as alternate routes, but (See ROUTE, Page 3A)

City hires company to negotiate bond debt

By Scott Cousins

With the expected default on approximately $4 million in bonds for the McKinley Bridge looming, the city of Venice approved hiring a bond counsel company to handle the matter.

The council approved hiring Thompson Coburn law firm of St. Louis to deal with negotiations with bondholders.

Mayor Tyrone Echols said at Tuesday's meeting that an attorney representing most of the bondholders has been in contact with the city.

Echols said the city may have to pay a higher interest rate on the outstanding bonds as a penalty for the default. About $4.3 million in outstanding bonds will come due on Oct. 1. Bridge officials have said previously that because of increased spending on repairs, there is no way they can make that payment, and the bonds will be in default for at least six years.

One of the reasons for the default is increased maintenance and inspection costs. At the recommendation of consulting engineers, the city has doubled both the repair crews and inspection crews for the bridge to about $700,000 per year.

Echols has also said that without major repairs, the bridge could close in five years or less.

Echols said the city is considering taking up to $15 million in loans to pay off the bond debt and make (See DEBT, Page 4A)

County Board grants enterprise zone expansion

By Scott Cousins
Staff writer

A resolution allowing a 25-acre extension of the Gateway Commerce Center enterprise zone was approved by the Madison County Board Wednesday.

Similar resolutions have been passed by the Pontoon Beach Village Board and the Edwardsville City Council.

PONTON BEACH

The county's resolution had been tabled from the last meeting at the request of board member Don Rea, D-Granite City, who questioned the need for the extension and the type of business that would be attracted.

Voting against the resolution

Wednesday were Rea and fellow board members Patricia Polley, Robert Stille, Jack Frandsen and Harold Byers.

The 25-acre extension of the 2.7-square-mile zone near the intersection of Illinois 111 and Interstate 270 in Pontoon Beach was sought to encourage the development of a business-commercial park along Old Chain of Rocks Road.

The first potential tenant would be a restaurant employing approximately 130 people.

During a public hearing on the expansion, Emert Wyss, one of the owners of the property, said it would be subdivided into 18-19 individual lots. In most cases, he said the lots would be sold two to four at a time to individual businesses.

Infrastructure developments would (See APPROVE, Page 4A)

IRS nearly fous out with baseball

For many years it's been legendary that, to the general public, the three most distrusted groups are lawyers, used-car salesmen, and journalists. Not necessarily disliked, just folks one should be a tad leery of, not necessarily fear of despise. After all, we all have to make a living somehow.

Not so with the agents of the IRS, and the heads of the Internal Revenue Service are not only aware of the terror and loathing the department inspires, they've been told by their higher-ups that they must change that public image. Not necessarily become insipid smiling faces who tell you to have a good day. Or Santa Claus. Just become a bit less threatening, develop some of that "I feel your pain" veneer.

Well, they almost blew that goal Labor Day, following the Cards-Cubs game in which Mark McGwire tied the Roger Maris season home run record. A 28-year-old St. Louis man, Mike Davidson, caught that ball and was swiftly and safely escorted by guards out of the stands and into the waiting arms of the media.

Davidson, who wouldn't even have been at the game had not his brother-in-law given him his ticket because he had to work, came off in TV and newspaper interviews and as thoroughly nice guy, like McGwire himself. "So far," he said, "this has been the biggest thrill of my life."

What's more, his wishes were modest, considering the ball in question had an estimated value of Lord-knows-what. He wanted to give the ball back to McGwire, "because it will mean more to him than to me."

He didn't want any money for the souvenir. Incidentally, I'm told that the balls cost nine bucks each. All he wanted was to meet Big Mac and he emerged from that meeting with two autographed bats (one for himself and one for the aforementioned brother-in-law) and two signed jerseys, one for himself and one for his yet-to-be baby. He didn't even ask for additional tickets.

Well, before the 10 p.m. news came on Labor Day, some unnamed IRS analyst had announced that Davidson might be looking at some fairly serious tax problems. The man reasons that something like "found" diamonds, the ball was taxable unless it was given to charity and according to his own estimates, the market value was somewhere in the neighborhood of a million bucks. Thus, he figured, if Davidson kept the ball, he'd end up owing about $400,000 and if he simply gave it back to McGwire (as he did), he'd still owe somewhere in the neighborhood of $150,000.

So much for the friendly image the department has been touting and seeking. It's a good thing the analyst was unnamed. He could have been the victim of a public lynching. By morning, and with the final game of the Cards-Cubs series coming up, the news of the analysts' boo-boo had hit Washington, and it hit the fan, and I don't mean the baseball fan.

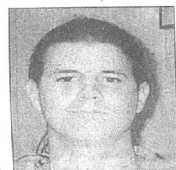

There was oratory in the halls of Congress denouncing the IRS analyst's theory and the White House joined in the governmental condemnation. I don't remember hearing anything from the Supreme Court and it's just as well, because the IRS promptly backed down. By the time the Tuesday night game began, the one in which Big Mac broke the record, IRS Commissioner Charles Rossotti had issued a calming public statement that Davidson had nothing to worry about from the dreaded tax guys. He cited the cause of the brouhaha as a misunderstanding on the part of the analyst, a teensy mistake anyone could have made, and he commended Davidson for his return of the ball of McGwire, noting that he deserved a round of applause rather than a punishment tax bill. He pointed out that Davidson donated the ball to some charity, he could have received somewhere in the area of $13,000 as a bonus. Bear that one in mind, baseball fans. There's no doubt, in my mind that before season's end, there'll be more homers from McGwire. You might get lucky, if you're so inclined.

Do you think President Clinton should be impeached?

Photos and interviews by Shirley Valencia
Interviewed at Save-A-Lot in Granite City

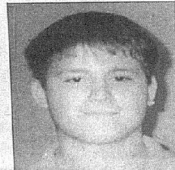

Greg Cochran, 17 student

"I think it's one thing to make a mistake, but when you lead the country and you lie to your people, you shouldn't be able to be president."

Mary Webb, 56 warehouse worker

"No, I don't think he should be because every politician has probably done the same."

Chris Fowler, 17 student

"I think people should not judge him because he had sexual contact with someone other than his wife. As long as he does his job, he's fine by me."

Ron Alsop, 33 business owner

"No. Most of the ones pointing a fine finger are probably guilty of the same types of things. And what he does with his private affairs has not affected interest rates, unemployment and other things."

Vera Boyd, 87

"No, I think the president is doing a fine job of running the country. His personal affairs are none of our business. We need to respect that."

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Poll here shows morals

TO THE EDITOR:

Wait a minute, is this area out of step with the nation?

There were more answers for "yes, it does not" in an area newspaper's survey about President Clinton's actions than "no, it doesn't."

That's what I would have expected and hoped for from the American people. It makes a person wonder about those polls by our liberal media!

It's disgusting Clinton had sex with a 21-year-old intern, allegedly one of many along the path of his career. I feel leaders should be role models for our young people. It's hard to stand up in front of my class of freshmen students and tell them honesty is the best policy, sex should be with your marriage partner and marijuana is bad for you when they can say, "not according to the president."

Of course, all of this doesn't matter to us as a nation right? It's Clinton's own personal business and doesn't affect anyone else, right? Wrong! Get your head out of the sand! But on to my other point.

The issue is heated. I'm sure he has lied and lied about all sorts of things. He doesn't know the meaning of the word character or integrity, let alone decency. Even a fellow Democrat, Sen. Bob Kerry, said, "He lies unusually well."

People say what a good president he is. Why? Because our economy is good, or is it because he cries so well at funerals for our service people? He feels our pain? Is that why?

The economy is good because we have a Republican-controlled congress that has the brakes on some of the massive spending our government does so well. They were behind the huge welfare reform. They have cut programs. Interest rates have been set and regulated by the Federal Reserve with Alan Greenspan in charge, a Republican appointee.

People are so ignorant to call a minute, is this area out of step with the nation?

We have Watergate, Travel Gate and the deal with the Chinese. What is good about the man?

Many of his appointees have been removed because of one scandal or another. Doesn't that make you wonder what sort of person he is? To quote William Bennett's editorial of Thursday, Aug. 20, "Mr. Clinton has done more than Jerry Springer, Howard Stern, anyone else to coarsen and debase our national discourse."

He is about as low as can be.

Poshard deserves your vote

TO THE EDITOR:

This is an open letter to the voters of southern Illinois.

I'm writing to let you know why I firmly believe that Congressman Glenn Poshard should be elected to Congress.

I first met Glenn Poshard in 1994 at an ex-prisoner of war recognition day ceremony. He impressed me immediately by his remarks about veterans and their contribution to the success of our country.

On Memorial Day in 1990, Poshard spoke at our morning church service. He talked about his true beliefs and attitude toward life. After this service, I was convinced that I should volunteer and help him in his next campaign in 1992. I'm still doing volunteer work for him.

In talking with several of his friends and a former college roommate, they told me he is genuine and confirmed — that what you see and hear is what you get.

Glenn is humble, honest and compassionate. He shows profound concern for the people he serves, and I am certain he will continue when he is elected governor.

Being an independent voter, on occasion I have been a Republican. Therefore, it is the man and not the political standing which I am supporting.

I have one big wish that George Ryan will debate Glenn Poshard on the issues in order of making all kinds of accusations and promoting negative TV advertisement.

Poshard does not take PAC money, which is a plus for him. In fact, we do not want a governor who has to answer to large corporations, automobile associations, etc. If we want election reform, then we need Poshard for governor.

I'm not an authority on politics, but I do know that we are ready for a change. I know of no one who can serve our state better than Congressman Poshard, because he understands the needs of the people. He is one of us. His door will be open to everyone regardless of party affiliation.

I sincerely wish that everyone will go to the polls on Nov. 3 and vote for Glenn Poshard, candidate for governor of Illinois.

Service impresses former residents

TO THE EDITOR:

I am writing to you to express my appreciation to Mrs. Ursula for being a goodwill ambassador to Granite City. As a former resident who makes as many visits home as she and her family are able, I appreciate her friendliness and willingness to make her customers happy.

Her Mr. Twist is on the top of my family's list of places to visit while we are in town. Her frozen yogurt and ice cream are the best we have ever eaten.

I hope everyone in Granite City appreciates her as much as we do here in Texas. She is a special lady who cares about her customers and serves a good product. Those things are sometimes hard to find anymore. Many more years of continued success are our wishes for Mrs. Ursula and Mr. Twist establishment.

Issue burns up voter

TO THE EDITOR:

To the shame of most Illinoisans, both Sens. Carol Moseley-Braun and Richard Durbin voted against the Flag Protection Amendment. Then we heard their rhetoric of how much they loved it.

I collected more than 500 petition signatures from people in all walks of life in favor of the amendment. Polls show that 80 percent of Americans favor a flag amendment. Many thought there were already laws citing the Flag Code.

Quite the contrary. All laws, including state laws, were struck down by the vote of one man (the Supreme Court decision 5-4) saying they infringed on freedom of speech and expression.

The act of desecrating the flag by stuffing it down a toilet and calling it art, urinating on it or burning it, I feel, is an act of treason, as the flag is a symbol of our country.

They say it's only a symbol and that desecration is only a political act.

If it's political, let them burn elephants and donkeys, they represent our political parties.

They say only a handful of dissenters burn the flag each year. What about the hundreds of thousands who watch this desecration and are helpless to retaliate without the law? Also, explain this to the thousand who died, fighting to protect this symbol.

They say veteran's groups desecrate the flag at their flag burning ceremonies.

The burning of those tattered, faded and torn flags are retired in a beautiful ceremony, honoring our country's symbol.

It was an amendment that gave me my right to the free speech.

It was an amendment that gave me the right to vote. I shall exercise that right as I vote for someone who believes in the flag enough to:

"Vote to protect it from desecration."

those proposals met with resident and business owner opposition.

Under a city, state and Madison County agreement, the council appropriated $600,000 from the downtown tax increment financing district, $300,000 for fixing the roads. The county's commitment is approximately $279,000.

"Under this agreement, any funds required to complete the project in excess of the $1.5 million will be the responsibility of the city," Juneau said. Both the governor's money and the county money allocated toward the project is capped, meaning no more will be made available.

"The $300,000 cost of fixing the sewers must be paid entirely by the city as well, he said, because it is not part of the agreement. The city would have to appropriate approximately $90,000 more from the downtown TIF to pay for them.

The only potential cost problem for the project is environmentally related, Juneau said, because although the engineering department has estimated the environmental care costs, any time the surface of a road is removed, unknown elements are involved.

Some council members were concerned about the costs of repairing the sewers. Alderman Bob Page said that considering the condition of some of the sewers, he didn't believe the project could be brought in at the specified amount, and the city would wind up spending more money.

"The longer we wait on this project, the more it keeps costing us," said Alderman Foster Frederick, who added that if they were going to do it, they should start now.

Frederick said, however, that if industries are responsible for the blockage of the sewers — rather than normal deterioration from age and wear — the city should see if it can have the industries pay for the repairs.

"The downtown committee has battled with this (project) back and forth for a couple of years," said Alderman Kim McTaggart. "I think by not proceeding with this agreement all we're doing is impeding any kinds of plans this committee has for downtown."

"Without having a specified truck route downtown, (not) getting away from areas we need to develop is only going to hamper development in downtown," she said.

"We've talked about this for years," Alderman Mac Warfield said. "If we can get trucks out of the downtown area, I think it would be well worth it."

Price takes aim at Costello

Representative's chief of staff says comments are off base

By Scott Kelly
Staff writer

Republican congressional candidate Bill Price is questioning the commitment of his opponent, Rep. Jerry Costello, in helping the Charles Melvin Price Support Base remain open, but a representative for Costello said that is a false impression.

"This is not just an issue of my father's name on a facility," Price said in a prepared statement Tuesday. "The real issue is the constituents of the 12th Congressional District could lose their jobs, and Mr. Costello is not fully focusing on the alternatives of what this base could be turned into."

"In a time when base closures are a reality, why is Mr. Costello hopeful the Army eventually may decide to keep the base?" Price said. "I propose that alternatives such as an industrial park be investigated, then we can draw more light industry into the Metro East and keep our people employed."

"Let's not wait until the Army decides what to do. Let's get to the bottom line. If we wait we may be holding an empty bag. I am a firm believer in being proactive and working to help this district grow," Price said.

Brian Lott, chief of staff for Costello, said Tuesday that Price's statements are way off base.

"The Price Base would have been padlocked in 1995 had it not been for Congressman Costello," he said. Costello, along with the Leadership Council Southwest Illinois and others local leaders, went before the Base Realignment and Closing Commission and convinced that commission to remove the Price Base from the closure list.

In June of this year, the U.S. Army ordered base commander Lt. Col. Keith Armstrong to prepare a Report of Excess that details the base's current occupants and operations. The Army Material Command, which serves as the landlord for the base, no longer wants to pay the overhead costs at Price's when the base only uses 28 percent of the facility.

Costello said in June one of the reasons he and others fought to keep the Price Center open was to eventually find other ways to utilize the prime location. It has strategic potential for reserve, maintenance and supply activities, as well as increased private sector involvement.

With the ROE, the base currently is advertising the base's assets to other federal agencies and branches of the military that might have an interest in using all or parts of the base.

If no other agency decides to use the base, the Army will have the option of turning over parts of the base for surrounding cities to use. The process could take years.

Since that time, Lott said, Costello has been working closely with military leaders and the Leadership Council to determine if there is any other federal or private sector interest in the base.

"If William Price would take the time to get involved in any of the local civic organizations, he would realize the amount of work that's being done," Lott said.

officials plan to have all the residents relocated and the home closed in January.

The 36 residents still in the Sheltered Care Home have received screening services to determine their specific needs, he said.

"We know some residents would benefit from being placed in other facilities in the county, assuming there are openings, that provide different kinds of services and different programs that the state runs," he said. "But there is clearly a need for sheltered care placements."

Because there are not enough sheltered care beds currently in Madison County, he said, the idea is to attract a privately operated replacement. County participation would be limited to providing suitable incentives, such as a bond issue, to build a home for which taxpayers would not be responsible. A new facility would have to stand on its own, Monday said.

Should a suitable alternative come forward in the next six months — one that agrees with county stipulations — then the county will go again to the state board and continue with closure procedures.

The county subsidy for the nursing home right now is $100,000 a month, he said.

"We need to conserve those resources so that we can continue to operate the Sheltered Care Home until the process is completed," Monday said.

Board Chairman Rudy Papa said those are the reasons why he and the ad-hoc Closure Committee asked the board for a different timetable to close the separate homes.

Papa cast the tie-breaking vote for approving the separate timetable.

Robberies reported

A St. Louis man reportedly was robbed at gunpoint early Tuesday morning in the Bissell Street Apartments parking lot.

At about 3:15 a.m. the man said he pulled into the apartment parking lot because he was having trouble with his car.

After attempting to call for help on his cellular telephone, he examined the car and attempted to move it. After the car would not move, he got out to walk to his daughter's house when four men — two of them allegedly armed with long guns — came up to him and demanded money.

The victim told them he had no money. They were a struggle, and one of the guns went off. The suspects grabbed $200 from the victim's pocket, then fled.

In another incident Friday, a man said he was robbed of $198 by a man who reached into his vehicle and took the money from his shirt pocket.

The victim said that at about 11:09 a.m. Friday he was at the intersection of Madison Avenue and Market Street when the suspect walked in front of his car, forcing him to stop. The suspect then allegedly came around to the side, reached in and took the money from the man's pocket.

way home, sometime around 12:30 a.m. last Wednesday. After all, the family had less than an hour to pack for an impromptu trip to Florida and make it to Lambert Field in St. Louis for their flight. Collinsville police provided an escort to the airport. Since the Florida trip, Forneris has appeared on the Today show, Late Night with David Letterman, graced the front pages of various publications and even met President Clinton. He may appear on the Tonight Show with Jay Leno. "It's all been very overwhelming," Forneris said. If he isn't in California this weekend, Forneris may participate in the Italian Fest parade Saturday.

"I'd be honored," he said. Forneris just graduated from St. Louis University and started his first job at Anderson Consulting in Belleville.

The analyst in training began work in July. Monday was his first day on the job since the life-altering event. While he is enjoying his more than 15 minutes of fame, Forneris said he hopes that going back to work is the first in a series of events returning life to normal.

He admits that the first-class trips, the attention and now the fan mail he is getting have been fun. But it's not a permanent lifestyle change. "I just want to be a regular guy and hang out in the places I always have and do the things I always did," Forneris said.

repairs to the bridge. Combined with federal and state money already earmarked for the bridge, they would be able to complete about $21 million in repairs. This would be in addition to about $7.5 million in recently completed repairs to the Illinois approaches to the bridge.

At a recent meeting, the City Council approved seeking bids for a traffic study, the first step in seeking the loans.

Echols said he has talked to officials with several banks about the project. At the meeting, he said one bank has turned down the city's proposal, but he planned to talk to other financial institutions.

include retention basins and two streets.

The restaurant would take up approximately five of the 25 acre development and would cost an estimated $2 million to construct.

In addition to the restaurant, Wyss said they have had inquiries from a hotel and a St. Louis company seeking to build a sales office in Illinois.

Illinois 203 closures set until Oct. 1

The Illinois Department of Transportation began lane closures Wednesday on Illinois 203 at the intersection of 203 and the northbound ramp from Interstates 55-70. The lane restrictions are necessary to install temporary traffic signals. The signals will help traffic flow when crews replace bridge structures at the interchange. The restrictions should be in effect until Oct. 1.

Group announces goal

Editor's note: News in Review provides a summary of some of the past week's stories. This column is intended for out-of-town readers who do not receive the Sunday and Wednesday Press-Record-Journals.

MADISON — To continue and enhance support for Tri-Cities Area United Way agencies and programs that keep people from just becoming another statistic, fall campaign leaders hope to raise at least $1.3 million by the end of October. The amount was announced at the kick-off breakfast Sept. 10 at the AMVETS Hall in Madison.
The amount is $95,000 more than was raised last year because of the documented needs of the United Way.

DUI suspect may face homicide charge

MADISON — Madison police are waiting for the results of lab tests before seeking additional charges against a Granite City man for his alleged involvement in a fatal car accident early Wednesday morning.
Dawn Readhead, 23, of the 2500 block of Nameoki Road, was killed early Wednesday morning when the 1982 Datsun pick-up in which she was riding collided with a tractor-trailer at the intersection of Illinois 203 and Ohio Street.
The driver of the pick-up, Kevin W. Clark, 23, of the same address, initially was charged with driving under the influence and operating an uninsured motor vehicle. Police said Clark suffered severe neck and chest injuries. However, he was in stable condition Friday and was expected to be removed from the critical care unit at St. Elizabeth Medical Center.

Readhead was pronounced dead at the scene at about 2:20 a.m. Witnesses said Clark apparently ran a red light. When asked by police what happened, he allegedly told them the only thing he remembered was that he had been arguing with Readhead.

Request dropped after outcry

PONTOON BEACH — Requests for rezoning several tracts of land in the 4100 block of Revell Lane in Pontoon Beach were dropped after an outpouring of opposition from neighboring residents concerned about flooding.
Antonio and Lori Silva of Granite City and Michael E. Barton of Pontoon Beach had requested land rezoned from business to residential to allow houses to be built at 4117 and 4135 Revell Lane, respectively.
Public hearings were held on the properties, and the village's Zoning Board of Appeals voted unanimously to approve the zoning changes, but the requests were dropped before Tuesday's Village Board meeting.
Neighboring residents came to the public hearings to oppose the rezoning, citing problems with flooding in the area.

Scuffle turns into alleged robbery

VENICE — Venice police were expected to seek felony charges against several men after a shooting incident early Saturday morning.
According to police, a verbal confrontation at New Venice Gas and Oil, 1101 Fourth Street, escalated into an armed confrontation, and then to an armed robbery.
According to reports, an officer was sitting in his vehicle at about 2:35 a.m. when a woman drove up and said there was a fight at the convenience store, and that several of the participants were armed.
As the officer was heading to the scene, a 1985 Oldsmobile with three men in it left the store's parking lot at a high rate of speed. The officer was making a traffic stop on the car when he reportedly heard several gunshots coming from the direction of the store. He ordered the three out of the car.
At that time another man came up and attempted to hit the driver of the car, claiming the driver had pulled a gun on him. As the officer tried to restrain the fourth man, the other three jumped back into the car and fled. They were stopped and detained by Madison police a few minutes later.
During a search of the car, police found a loaded .380 semi-automatic handgun under the driver's seat. Two women at the store identified all three subjects as being involved in the incident.

Odom family holds annual reunion Aug. 26

The annual Odom family reunion was held Aug. 29 in Wilson Park at Shelter 2.

Descendants of the late Rose Brake of Tennessee attended. The family spent the day enjoying games, visiting with family and friends and picture-taking. The company enjoyed a delicious home-cooked meal. Jeff Schmidt said the prayer.

Those attending from Tennessee were: Mac and Norma Gann of Clarksville; Shirley and Curtis Nolan of Erin; Laurie, Blue, Falcon, Cody, Jennifer and Chelsea Stockman of Vanleer.

Attending from Missouri were: Faith Nunn of Spanish Lake; and Keith, Chris and Kelly Rutter, Curtis McGarthy, Mandy Tabaka, Michael Bradbury, Mike Wilson and Ryan O'Leary, all from St. Louis.

Attending from Granite City were: Maxine Rutter, Estelle Dorch, Peggy Reeves, Arthur and Fran Rossi, Mario and Kathy Rossi Sr. and Mario Jr., Minnie and Cecilia Kamacho, Rick and Marguerita Skipper and Nikki, Donna Hland, Mike Allison, Dennis Rutter, Phillip and Robin Cruse and Rich and Mercedes Melton.

Others attending from Illinois were: Lisa and David Walton, Jeff, Amy and Emily Mills and Sandy Payne of Edwardsville; Barba Schmidt, and Jeff, Carol and Caleb Schmidt of Belvidere; Wanda Odom Gidig of New Baden; Mike Robin and Keisha, Whitney and Shane Brazel, Joyce, Ted and Kathy Brazel, Christopher Pirok, Keeley Meyer, Tim Brazel and Jamie O'Neal of New Douglas; Gay Odom Eckert of Belleville; Mark Selena and Ceaira and Adairn Brazel of Litchfield; Nicole and Scott Prost of Livingston; and Cindy, Mark, Matthew, Mason, Morgan and Marc DeGonia, Bev, Rob, Heather, Brooke and Bryan Henley and Joy Reinwald, all of Collinsville.

Ashlee Schenke recently celebrated her 13th birthday with a skating party at Funtown, U.S.A., in Pontoon Beach.

Those in attendance were: Ashlee's mother, Tammy; Amy and Nancy Shipley; Megan and Joann Depp; Caitlin Saydhar; Heather and Blake Werner; Ken, Lora and Lyndsay Fuller; Natasha, Cody and Tony Buckingham; Jennifer Riggs; and Beth Pryor. Party members enjoyed a St. Louis Cardinals Baseball theme with skating, music, cake and soft drinks.

The Better Breathers' Club meeting was held Sept. 8 in the Wiesman Room in St. Elizabeth Medical Center. Beverly Motil, RN, BSN, ACSCM and exercise specialist, was the guest speaker.

Motil spoke on the many exercises to help pulmonary problems. Exercises included diagonal and sideward arm raises; over the head and underneath shoulder stretch; and circling head and shoulders to relax neck muscles. Club membership is open to anyone with breathing problems and care takers.

Meetings are held the second Tuesday each month at SEMC. Secretary Shirley Wendel read minutes of the last meeting. The group also discussed new business. A luncheon was served to Kenneth and Rosella Fuller, Mary E. Mize, Mary Kay Mize, Mary Margaret King, Jim Noe, Pearl Kamulinski, Susie Horton, Dave Sheppard, Maxine Green and Carol Smith, coordinator.

Congratulations to Chloe Denny, Cora Nance, Esther Schmi, Elaine Staton, Karen Hare and Rose Doolen for earning their 1998-1999 Mrs. Albee Avon awards at the Campaign 20 sales meeting.

Celebrating birthdays were: Claire Strickland, Melodie Cope, Betty Frazier, Sheila Humphrey, Rosa Lux, Traile Higgings, Rena Nelhaus, Chloe Denny, Linda Gresham, Jay Woolfork, Lisa Mitchell, Bobbi File, Mary Grant, Teresa McIntosh, Starla Milligan, Mary Beth Young, Angel Moore and Carol Sackett. Anniversaries were: Amanda Ponder, Beverly Green, Karla Grant, Wilma Maguire, Terry Truner, Dee Sido, Vincee Berry, Eileen Yoby, Dawn Voss, Phyllis Flowers, Lorlie Mahanay, Jennifer Peck, Elaine Staton, Mary Schmittling, Doris Gress and Cindy Milton.

The next sales meeting is at 11 a.m. or 7 p.m. today, Thursday, Sept. 17, at the Avon Contact Point with refreshments. The new 1998 holiday products are on display. Raffle prizes and lots of fun are on hand. New representatives and customers are welcome.

Capt. Brian and Kelly Pickens have announcing the arrival of a baby girl on Aug. 19 at Scott Air Force Hospital.

PRIDE OF OWNERSHIP
Tribute to American Craftsmanship
When you own furniture sold by Barewood Furniture Gallery, you own a piece of American history. This is because our furniture is made with a certain kind of pride. The same pride that once made American crafted furniture the envy of the world. And before the turn of the century, American made products were indeed second to none. Today, there are those who say the days of quality and pride are gone. That Americans work hard, but they are not proud. And they're proving those people wrong at Barewood Furniture Gallery. And we'll continue to sell our world class furniture with pride of workmanship. Because people like you still have pride of ownership.

Forneris' celebrity status keeps him busy, on the move

Tim Forneris may not have received a million dollars for retrieving Mark McGwire's historic 62nd home run on Sept. 8, but the Collinsville resident has had more than a million dollars worth of memories.

Forneris was accompanied by his mother and father, his brother and his boss at Busch Stadium on a whirlwind cross-country trip after the 22-year-old became an instant celebrity when he was lucky enough to be in the right place at the right time on Sept. 8 at Busch Stadium. Forneris was behind the left field wall when McGwire launched his shortest home run of the season.

The ball just cleared the left field wall, went under the loge section and into an area where the Cardinals' grounds crew, of which Forneris is a member, stores equipment. Forneris outraced fellow groundskeeper and older brother Tino, 24, for the ball, forever changing his life. McGwire's 62nd homer broke Roger Maris' major-league record of 61 home runs, set in 1961.

"I'm glad to be back," Forneris said Tuesday morning after reporting to his full-time job as an analyst for Andersen Consulting in downtown St. Louis. "It was crazy when I returned to Busch Stadium (Monday night as part of the grounds crew)."

Forneris' celebrity status began immediately after the game when he presented the ball to McGwire at a post-game celebration.

"That was probably the coolest of the things that I did," he said.

And the festivities did not stop there.

With a Collinsville police escort, Forneris, brother Tino, mother Rita, father Tony and head groundskeeper Steve Peeler began Celebration 62 by heading to the Spirit of St. Louis in Chesterfield, Mo., to catch a charter plane 2:45 a.m. last Wednesday to Disney World in Orlando, Fla.

"I asked to bring my family and my boss, and they allowed me to do it," Tim said of the Disney people.

With the Magic Kingdom as a backdrop, Tim conducted two hours of interviews with the national networks, reliving his story about being the lucky one to retrieve the ball.

Tim, brother Tino and boss Steve were allowed to ride the Thunder River rollercoaster before the Disney World theme park opened as cameramen filmed them. Tim also served as the grand marshal at the parade at Disney World, getting cheers from the crowd while being escorted by Mickey Mouse.

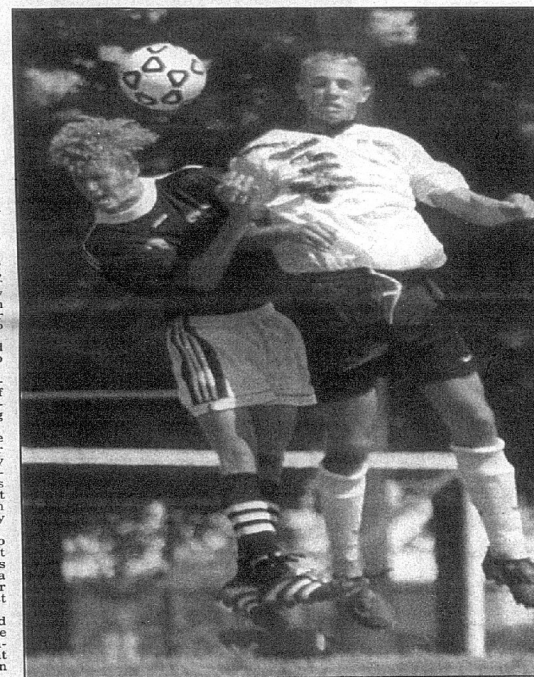

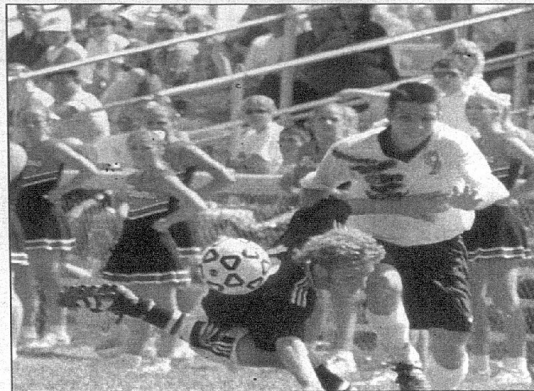

From Disney World, it was off to the Orlando, Fla., airport to meet with President Clinton, who was stumping in Florida. Tim drew a laugh from President Clinton after telling him that "he felt like Forrest Gump without a Dr. Pepper."

After a five-minute meeting and photo session with the President, the press queried Tim. Pressed to comment on President Clinton's recent troubles, Tim responded, "I'm not in politics."

Celebration 62 continued on to New York for an appearance on David Letterman's "Late Night." Tim was such a hit that his interview lasted at least 10 minutes, according to his father Tony. Steve Peeler was called to the stage by Letterman, and so was Tino, who unfortunately didn't make an appearance on the national TV show because the show cut away for a commercial.

The group later was wined and dined at the All-Star Cafe before retiring to the hotel for a well-deserved rest.

Granite City falls short vs. St. Louis area's top team

By Rick Broome
Staff writer

Granite City came out strong against the top soccer team in the St. Louis area Tuesday night but fell short as Richmond Heights (Mo.) CBC emerged with a 2-0 victory at home.

Granite City came at the Cadets in waves, harried them and marked them tight all over the field, interrupting any flow before it could develop. Dave Margrahe, Mike Smith and Brad Hutchings swarmed the CBC defenders, looking to create a turnover. But the Cadets were steady, and their lateral control of the ball in the air was too tight for the Warriors to penetrate.

CBC broke into the scoring column at 17:12 of the first half. As has been the case in two of Granite City's previous games — against Springfield Sacred Heart (Griff) and Vianey — the defense made one crucial mistake: it backed up and gave a talented player too much room to maneuver.

CBC's James Hunt drove straight at the heart of the Warriors defense. The defender backed into the box, giving Hunt a shooting lane, and he planted a bomb in the top right-hand side. Warriors keeper Brandon Williams never had a chance.

"Yeah, we backed off," said Granite City coach Gene Baker. "But it was a rocket. It had to be from 35 yards out."

Once again, the Warriors were facing a much bigger squad. CBC took advantage of its size and Kevin Hudson added the Cadets' second goal at 29:14 of the second half.

CBC's Chance Herz took a corner kick from the right side, and lofted the ball into the box. Hudson took the ball out of the air and scored on a header to seal the deal.

CBC keeper Ryan O'Hagen recorded the shutout.

"We played pretty well, but we couldn't finish," Warriors defender Jarod MacMillian said. "These guys (CBC) deserve the top ranking."

MacMillian, Phillip Reader, Justin

Stone, and especially Andy Ronk played solid on defense. Ronk looked particularly strong Tuesday, coming back after a one-game suspension for the red card he picked up in the game against Collinsville.

"Ronk played a real good game," Baker said. "Our defense played well in general. But I think we let (Hudson) go on the corner."

The defense held back most of the night, as a bulwark against the explosive offense the Cadets are capable of igniting.

"We wanted to be careful, and not push up against these guys," MacMillian said.

Baker had said before the season ever started that the key to the team's success would be in the hands of Williams, who took over after junior Justin Roehr blew out his knee.

With the Warriors at 5-2-1 against a tough slate, Williams has done his job.

"I couldn't be prouder of Brandon," Baker said.

On Tuesday, Williams turned in another fine performance.

His best save came with less than 10 minutes left in the second half. After a mad scramble in the box, CBC's Kevin Corrigan received a pass and stood alone in front of the net. Williams sprawled toward the ball, his back turned — and made the save.

Granite City was willing to engage in physical play with the bigger Cadets. Corey Winfield was given a yellow card in the first half, and Bob Scott got one in the second.

The schedule does not get any easier in fact, it gets interesting, tonight when the Warriors host defending IHSA Class AA runner-up Edwardsville.

Granite City JV's tie CBC

By Rick Broome
Staff writer

The Granite City junior varsity team went across the river and gained a 2-2 tie with CBC on Tuesday.

Brian Carr scored two goals for the Warriors in the tie, which left them with a 4-3-1 record.

After CBC scored the opening goal, Carr broke into the clear and landed a hard shot behind the keeper.

Less than 15 seconds later, the Cadets reclaimed the lead.

With a little more than 20 minutes left in the second half, Carr again snaked through the defense and nailed the equalizer into the right side of the net.

"I wasn't honestly expecting it," Granite City coach Virgil Kirksey said of the tie. "The freshmen played last night against Edwardsville, and we got four or five of them on the junior varsity team."

"Our kids showed a tremendous amount of heart tonight," Kirksey said. Two of his kids received yellow cards, as the refs called a tight game to keep the reins pulled back. Two of CBC's players also were booked. The officiating worked — the game was physical, but fair.

"Neal Loftus didn't get to play because of the red card he got Saturday against (Springfield) Sacred Heart (Griffin)," Kirksey said. "We had to make due without him."

Coming off a tough 2-1 loss on Saturday, the tie was a satisfying outcome for the Granite City JVs.

"We played well Saturday," Kirksey said. "We have nothing to be ashamed about in losing to a good team. This CBC team beat Collinsville 4-0, and we lost to Collinsville, so we think this is a good result for us."

Granite City's next game is 5:30 p.m. today, when it hosts Edwardsville.

Kahoks prepare for tough test vs. 0-3 Warriors

By Brian Bretsch
Staff writer

Don't let Granite City's 0-3 record fool you.

Collinsville High football coach Tim Kane will not allow the 3-0 Kahoks to being overconfident for their 7:30 p.m. Friday home game against Granite City.

Kane has been preaching focus. He knows Granite has a deceptive 0-3 mark with losses coming respectively to Cahokia (25-14), O'Fallon (31-15) and Edwardsville (14-0). All three of those teams made the IHSA playoffs

"They are 0-3 but that doesn't necessarily tell what kind of a ballclub they are by their record," Kane said.

"First of all, they have played three quality opponents, especially their last game. They must have played pretty solid defensively."

Collinsville comes into the game 3-0 with wins against Civic Memorial and winless Belleville West and Mascoutah squads. Civic Memorial has won two straight since opening with a loss to Collinsville.

"I don't think we could ever go into any game as far as being totally overconfident," Kane said. "We still have plenty of things we need to work on and plenty of things we need to correct."

"We need to be able to fine-tune and to continue to get better and to be the type of team I think we can be."

"Our kids are pretty focused and I think they understand that. We have talked to them as far as it only being three games, and three games does not make a season. We certainly have games left on our schedule. Right now, the most important game is Granite City. That is the only game we need to worry about."

The Warriors' defense held Edwardsville in check for most of the game, allowing the Tigers to score just 14 points.

Offensively, it was a couple of costly mistakes that doomed the Warriors.

Running back Brooks Narvaez appeared to have scored a 3-yard TD, but the touchdown was nullified by a holding penalty and the Tigers' defense held. As time was running

Brewer completes first summer of professional ball

By Rick Broome
Staff writer

The Metro East has become a hotbed for professional baseball players. Add one more blossoming talent to the list. Dustin Brewer is getting his chance with the Baltimore Orioles organization.

Brewer, a pitcher who graduated from Granite City High School in the spring, completed his first season of professional baseball on the rookie level at Sarasota, Fla.

BASEBALL

He finished the year with an 0-4 record to go along with eight no decisions. He pitched 50 1/3 innings in 14 games, giving up 64 hits and 38 runs, 33 of them earned. He walked 23 and struck out 31.

"It would have been a lot better," he said, "but I gave up nine or 10 runs to the Red Sox. It came late in the season. Up to that point my ERA was around 3.25."

"I was starting, but then I pulled a muscle in my shoulder. So I worked out of the bullpen for a while, just to get the kinks out."

Brewer started on the path to professional baseball in southwestern Illinois.

"I played high school baseball at Granite City, and then I summer played for the (Granite City) American Legion team under Ralph Burnett," Brewer said from his home in Granite City. "In high school, I played right field and pitched. I played first base my junior year. In Legion, I was on third and pitched."

Brewer enjoyed his experiences in Florida with rookie ball, far removed from the spotlight of the major leagues.

"The minor leagues have been a great experience," he said. "I didn't know what to expect. When I got down there, there were four fields back-to-back. We play every day at noon. We were going to go to Tampa."

HR inspires win by Chaminade

By Brian Bretsch
Staff writer

It is funny how a Mark McGwire home run can fire up a soccer team.

Tuesday night at Cahokia Stadium, Collinsville High was hosting St. Louis Chaminade in a non-conference soccer match when McGwire's circuit clout seemed to ignite the Red Devils attack.

The two teams had played more than 45 minutes of scoreless soccer when Collinsville's public address announcer made a seemingly innocent announcement that McGwire slammed his 63rd home run of the season against the Pittsburgh Pirates.

Most of the crowd cheered and clapped with approval. However, the players on the bench for Chaminade, which incidentally wears red and white as team colors, jumped to their feet and started cheering wildly.

Chaminade has a tie to the St. Louis Cardinals organization: Brian Lamping is the son of Cardinals president Mark Lamping. And he scored two goals Tuesday night in the Red Devils' 2-1 victory.

Dan Hilson scored the first goal for Chaminade, less than two minutes after the announcement of McGwire's home run.

"It was exciting to hear about his 63rd," Chaminade coach Mike Gauvain said. "Monday" was Mark McGwire Day and you were supposed to wear all red. I said something (Tuesday) that maybe it was all red for today and that's why we wore all red.

"We have played well the whole year and have created a lot of chances. Now we have just got to find some guys who can score."

After Hilson scored at 45:56, Lamping delivered his first goal at 51:13.

Lamping's second goal was scored when he converted a rebound of his initial shot, which Collinsville keeper Kevin Connolly partially blocked.

Collinsville's Brad Smith and Kris Hall teamed to break up LaGrotta's shutout bid. Hall floated a perfect restart from the left wing and curled it toward the top of box. Smith went high into the air and headed the ball past LaGrotta at 73:29.

WATER MAIN FLUSHING

Coming Soon To Your Neighborhood!

During September, we plan to flush all water mains in the Granite City area. This annual program is necessary to ensure continued water quality and to check fire-hydrant operation.

When we are working in your neighborhood, you may experience a reduction in water pressure or draw some discolored water for a short period of time. If this occurs, simply let your water run until it's clear again. Your water is safe to drink throughout the flushing program.

Our annual "free chlorine" flushing program also has begun. By temporarily switching to a different form of chlorine in the water treatment process, this annual maintenance program prevents accumulation of nitrates in the water system. It's another step we take to ensure continued delivery of high-quality water to your homes and businesses.

served overnight sleep. Tim was sequestered in his hotel room most of the morning, handling inquiries about future appearances, until his group headed to Yankee Stadium, where Maris hit his historic homer in 1961. Tim, Tino and Steve were in their element as they conversed with the Yankee grounds crew. But they weren't able to stay around for the game — they had to take a plane to Los Angeles and an interview with Howie Mandel. That show was to be aired Wednesday in the St. Louis market. "Mandel and his staff was a lot looser than that of Letterman," father Tony said. "Howie told Tim 'to let his intuition take over.'"

Instead of being introduced before his appearance, Tim sat in the audience with the rest of the patrons. Mandel threw a magazine in Tim's direction, to which Tim responded, "Mr. Mandel, I've got something that belongs to you," paraphrasing the words he used when he returned the ball to McGwire at Busch Stadium.

"In another two weeks or so after the season has ended, things will start getting back to normal."

Tim Forneris
shared McGwire's 62nd homer

When Tim put his Cardinals hat on, the audience instantly recognized him and applauded him. A guest on the same show was former NBA star Magic Johnson, who kidded Tim about not taking money for the ball.

After spending a second night in Los Angeles, the group headed back to St. Louis last Saturday.

On Monday, Tim appeared on the Fox 2 morning show in St. Louis. On Tuesday, he was a guest of the Collinsville Chamber of Commerce at the Gateway Center in Collinsville and he was presented with the key to the city. Since returning home, Tim also had an interview with WGN Radio in Chicago after Sammy Sosa hit his 62nd home run of the season on Sunday.

Tim may or may not ride in the parade this weekend at the ItalianFest in Collinsville, because he may be headed to Los Angeles and an appearance at Dodger Stadium and on Jay Leno's "Tonight Show."

Tim said he also has been contacted by Beckett, the card collector's magazine, about a book about McGwire's home-run assault.

"I'll try to do whatever I can," Tim said. "My bosses at Andersen have given me as much time off as possible. In another two weeks or so after the season has ended, things will start getting back to normal."

Despite his celebrity status, Tim says he will continue to work as a part-time groundskeeper at Busch the rest of this year and is hoping to return for the 1999 season.

Reflecting on his good fortune, Tim said never in his wildest dreams believed he would be the one to get the cherished ball — although he did joke with ABC correspondent Rex Hudler prior to the event about being the one to get the ball, which already has made its way to the National Baseball Hall of Fame and Museum in Cooperstown, N.Y.

"In my six years at Busch (he worked four previously as an usher), I never did get a home-run ball," he said. "Was I forced to give the ball back, rather than trying to hold out for money? No, I was never forced to do that. I just felt giving the ball back to Mr. McGwire was the right thing to do."

The Althoff High (1994) and Saint Louis University (1999) graduate admitted it will be tough to top the notoriety he has received as being part of baseball history.

"I've been blessed all my life," he said.

"I'm so proud of both of my sons," said father Tony, a retired director of Southwestern Bell. "I would have supported his decision (on the ball), no matter what he did. He always was a big fan of McGwire's, even back to his days as a player at USC. So I guess it was appropriate that Tim would be the one to get the ball."

Appropriate also that fate would be present. McGwire hit his 61st homer on his father's 61st birthday on Sept. 7. McGwire's 62nd homer was on the birthday of Tim's deceased paternal grandfather.

Granite City's Dustin Brewer pitched for the Baltimore Orioles rookie league team in Florida this summer.

•Brewer

Day to watch a game, but they ran out of tickets.

"The Pirates, Twins, Rangers and Red Sox clubs were down there with us. The Orioles' biggest rehab center is down where we are, so I got to see some of the big-league players. I saw Mike Mussina, and I got to talk to Robby Alomar when he came down. He's a really nice guy."

"It felt so good when they gave me that Orioles shirt. That's been my dream since I was a little kid."

While it was not major league ball, the challenges that Brewer faced were pressure-packed.

"The competition was a lot higher than anything I had seen before," he said. "In high school, I played against teams with maybe two or three guys in the lineup who could hit me. Down here, you have an entire lineup of No. 4 batters."

Brewer spent some of the summer working on mechanics and routine to keep his arm in shape.

"There are two levels of throwing," Brewer said. "You can throw as hard as you can and peak in high school — but then your arm gives out. The other guys pace themselves and build up their arm strength. These are usually the guys who get drafted."

"I pitch on the first and sixth days. The second day, I do some light long tossing. The third day, I throw batting practice. The fourth and fifth days, I do some harder long tossing. You have to throw everyday or your arm will get weaker."

Brewer already is preparing for 1999. "I'm lifting weights and running a couple of miles every day," he said. "I chose not to go to school this year so I could focus 100 percent on baseball."

As to his chances of making it to the majors, Brewer sees an opening.

"They think I can do it or they wouldn't have drafted me."

Granite City defeats Mascoutah, O'Fallon

By Rick Broome
Staff writer

The Granite City golf team finally showed its potential in a match away from the comfort of Arlington.

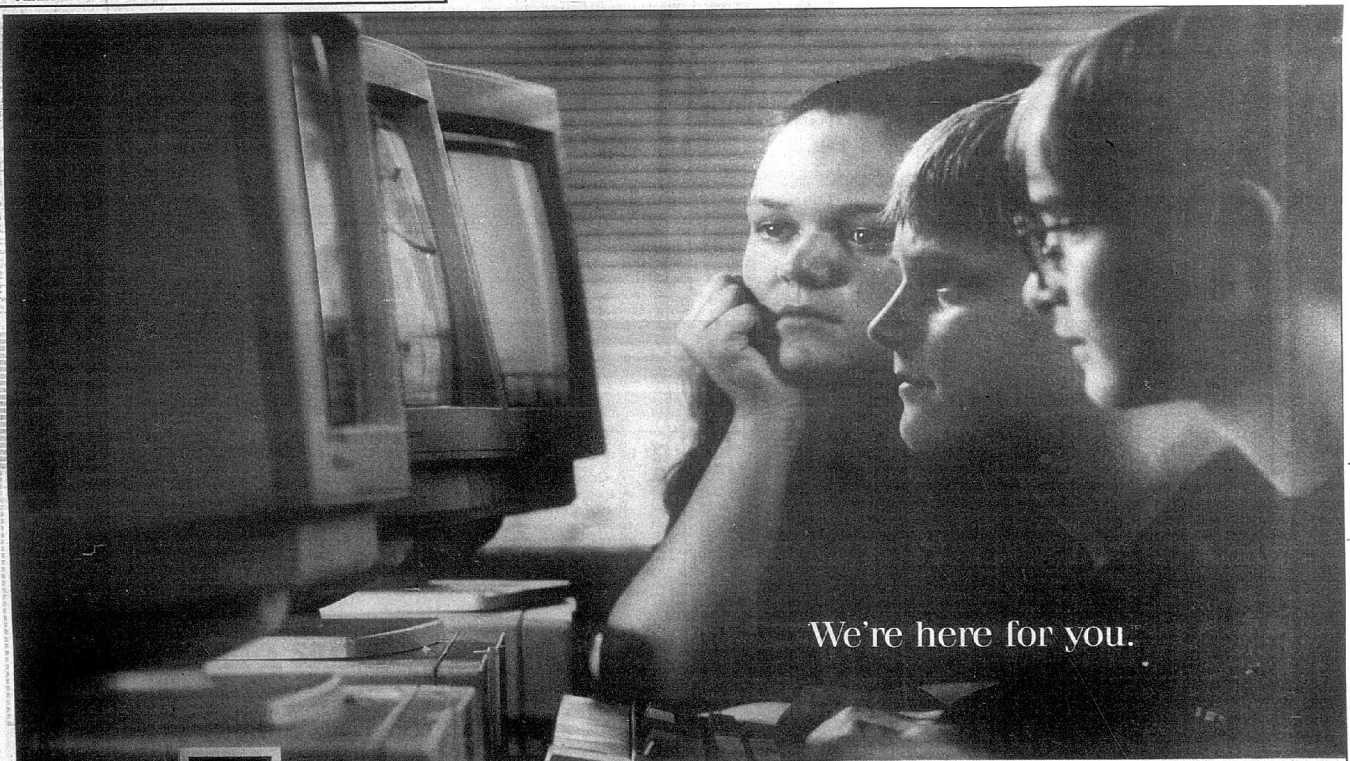

On Tuesday afternoon at Okawville, the Warriors put together a score of 154, beating Mascoutah (163) and O'Fallon (168) to run their record to 10-3.

Granite City junior Jeff Jerden was the low finisher in the competition, with a 1-over-par 37 on the par-36 course. It was the fourth match in a row in which Jerden had his team's lowest score.

The trio of Ty Suhre, Brett Solberger and Josh Harrison each shot 39's to round out the scoring. Brett Briggs and Ryan McAteer each shot 40 to insure that the Warriors posted the victory.

THE LAW AND YOU

By RICK REED
Attorney At Law

When an individual is preparing to purchase a home, he will be asked to sign a real estate contract. After the contract is signed, he may discover that he is unable to obtain financing through a lending institution. If the bank will not lend money to the buyer, is he obligated to proceed with the purchase? This depends upon whether the contract has a contingency clause with regard to financing.

A purchaser in this situation has the right to make the home purchase contingent on several factors if the seller will agree to them. In addition to the question of financing, the buyer may want to make the sales contract contingent on a termite inspection or an examination of the home for structural defects. If the buyer does not include these contingencies in the contract, he cannot expect to back out of the sale if any of these situations arise.

In one recent case, a seller and buyer entered into a real estate contract for the purchase of a $70,000 home. The sale was made contingent on the buyer obtaining an 80% loan from a lending institution. The loan was approved, but the buyer encountered an unanticipated problem. He intended to obtain the balance of the purchase price from his uncle. The uncle had promised to lend the buyer the $14,000 down payment, but at the last minute he changed his mind. Since the buyer did not make the real estate purchase contingent on the uncle's loan, there was a question as to whether he would be forced to proceed with the sale.

In this case, the buyer perhaps could argue that the lending institution would not loan him 80% of the purchase price without the uncle's down payment. Nevertheless, the simplest solution to this problem would have been to make the contract contingent on the uncle's loan. A potential buyer who is ready to purchase real estate should have the contract prepared or reviewed by an attorney to make sure he can back out of the sale if certain contingencies arise.

Q: Is a Credit Union a Bank?

A: A Credit Union is not a bank and never has been.
A Credit Union has no profit motive, stockholders or customers. Just member-owners who pool their savings to make low-cost loans to each other. Without Credit Union-Bank fees, loan rates and bank profits would be higher. Take advantage of your opportunity to belong to a not-for-profit Financial Cooperation by joining PICCU today!

Q: Why does my pet itch?

A: Pets can itch for a number of reasons but this time of year, the biggest culprit is allergies. Allergies can range from inhaled allergens such as pollen or mold to flea bites or allergies to grasses or weeds. The most common symptom with allergies is itchy skin exhibited by the pet through scratching or licking. Without treatment, secondary skin infections may develop in the form of scabs or sores. Medications are available to help control the allergies during seasonal flare ups as well as hypo sensitization injections for those excellent flea products available that only require monthly application to control fleas. Consult your veterinarian today for the best course of treatment for your pet.

East St. Louis

Few problems as Lincoln students move to East Side school

The front office at East St. Louis High School was a whirlwind of activity Thursday morning, with students, teachers and staff still getting in synch for the school year.

But Principal Fonzy Coleman said with a laugh that Thursday went better than Wednesday, the first day for the new East St. Louis Senior High School.

Many of the school's some 2,372 students once attended the former Lincoln Senior High School, now a middle school to replace the shuttered Hughes-Quinn-Rock.

Coleman, the former principal of Hughes-Quinn-Rock and the merger coordinator, said he hasn't heard much consternation about the merger. Fears of fighting students or uncooperative teachers have not materialized.

Perkins is out in District 110

After reviewing the findings of a state audit, Grant Community School District 110 board members voted unanimously to dismiss Superintendent Kenneth Perkins last week.

An employee of the school district said Monday that Robert E. Stuckey will serve as interim superintendent. Stuckey could not be reached for comment.

The audit by the Division of Fiscal Accountability for the Illinois State Board of Education showed a failure to report student absences at the end of the school year.

The district's state aid is based on student attendance, and the audit reported that the school district received more than $41,000 in undeserved state aid.

Columbia

Dual deaths investigated

The Sept. 4 death of an 80-year-old Columbia woman was apparently an act of compassion by her 84-year-old husband, who allegedly then took his own life.

Police took the report of a shooting at 9:37 a.m. Sept. 4 at a home in the 300 block of Ribeling Street in Columbia. Officers arrived and reportedly found Gerald Lybarger dead and Georgia Rae Lybarger critically injured.

Authorities have refused to disclose details of the investigation. A relative reportedly said the man had called a family member and said he shot his wife and planned to shoot himself. The couple were said to be dependent over her illness. There are reports of a note left by the husband to the effect that they did not want to be a burden on the family.

Belleville

City to file lawsuit over firefighter benefits

The city will fight an arbitrator's decision on benefits to firefighters.

In a 15-1 vote on Monday, the Belleville City Council agreed to file a lawsuit against an arbitrator's ruling on Aug. 17 in favor of the firefighters. The ruling states the city should make good on previously agreed-to benefits to the firefighters.

"It is an agreement that will mean millions of dollars in future tax increases for the citizens of Belleville," said Mayor Mark Kern. "It is an agreement that the city should have been apprised."

Devin Kaemmerer, 7th Ward Alderman, cast the lone dissenting vote.

"I feel the city should abide by the agreement," said Kaemmerer. "I don't think the city can win."

Machinists strike in 6th week

Union machinists of Local 313 (auto mechanics) say a union pension and medical benefits are what is keeping them from going back to work for the eight dealerships in the Belleville Auto Dealers Association.

The other dealers St. Clair and Madison counties, including Weber Chevrolet and Koetting Ford of Granite City, have agreed to the union plan.

The striking union members were dissatisfied with the dealer association offer to choose the insurance plan. Under the union plan, each machinist would pay the same amount for dependents. With the dealer plan, each worker pays an additional amount for dependents.

The dealer plan would also set up a 401K plan and discontinue paying into the pension plan.

Cahokia

Hazardous waste plant shut down

The state has ordered a hazardous waste recycling plant in Sauget to shut down pending a court hearing next month on charges of environmental violations.

Attorney General Jim Ryan has sued Resource Recovery Group at 1 Mobile Ave. for operation and maintenance problems, operating without an air permit, operating storage tanks and drum storage areas in violation of permits, failing to post money to close storage units and failing to provide liability assurances.

The Illinois EPA also denied the company's permit modification request to extend compliance dates and extend construction deadlines for storage areas.

Julia Rebstock

JULIA B. (SKILES) BRIDGETT REB-STOCK, 40, of Mitchell died Tuesday, Sept. 15, 1998, at her residence.

Mrs. Rebstock was born Oct. 28, 1957, in Potomac, Md.

Survivors include her husband, Michael Rebstock Sr.; three sons, Larry Bridgett, Jeremy Rebstock, and Michael Rebstock all of Mitchell; one daughter, Angela Bridgett of Fenton Beach; one sister, Connie Henry of Sheboygan, Wis.; and six brothers, Steve Skiles of Waynesville, Mo., William, Ricky, Donnie, and David Skiles all of Maplewood, Mo., and Billy Skiles of Cahokia.

She was preceded in death by her parents, Bill and Louise (Parsons) Bilderback.

Services will be at 10 a.m. today, Thursday, Sept. 17, at Irwin Chapel, 3950 Maryville Road, Granite City, with the Rev. Mel Sorenson officiating. Burial will be in Sunset Hill Memorial Estates in Glen Carbon.

Memorials may be made to the American Cancer Society.

Nicole Williams

NICOLE M. "COCO" WILLIAMS, six months, of St. Louis died Aug. 30, 1998, at her residence.

Nicole Williams was born Feb. 3, 1998.

Survivors include her mother, Stephanie Williams of St. Louis; grand parents, Robert and Sheila Hosier of St. Louis; and Marsha Driemeler and Willis Driemeler, both of St. Louis; and three great-grandmothers, Mary Hosier and Linda Lewis, both of Granite City, and Marilyn Lane of St. Louis.

Gravestone services were Wednesday, Sept. 2, at St. Matthew Cemetery.

Kriegshaver Southern Mortuary handled the arrangements.

The Press-Record will publish obituaries up to two weeks following the funeral service. Although most obituaries are received from local funeral homes, obituary notices can be sent to the newspaper at: Granite City Press-Record, 1815 Daimar, Granite City, IL, 62040.

Park offering free flowers

Wilson Park's annual flower giveaway will be from 8 a.m. until noon Oct. 3.

The event allows the park to remove one kind of flower to make room for another.

Flowers to be distributed are annuals planted in the park's main garden flowerbeds last spring. They must be removed to prepare the flowerbeds for the planting of tulips and other spring flowering bulbs.

Even though the plants are annuals, some varieties may be used as house plants, and some will seed. If seeds are properly stored, they may be used for planting next season.

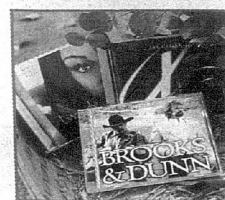

Park garden staff will dig up the flowers to be given away and will answer questions. Varieties available will include Begonia, black and tri-color sweet potato vine, Caladium Coleus, Croton, Cuphea (Mexican heather and cigar plant), Dahlias, Geraniums, Hypoestes, Impatiens, Nicotiana, Petunia (pink wave, white, red), Portulaca, Rudbeckia and snapdragons.

Gary Ford, garden supervisor for the Granite City Park District, said no rose cuttings or perennials will be given this season.

The public is asked to bring their own containers. District personnel will be the only ones allowed to dig plants and flowers.

Stayin' alive: Skyview Drive-in rolling through the '90s

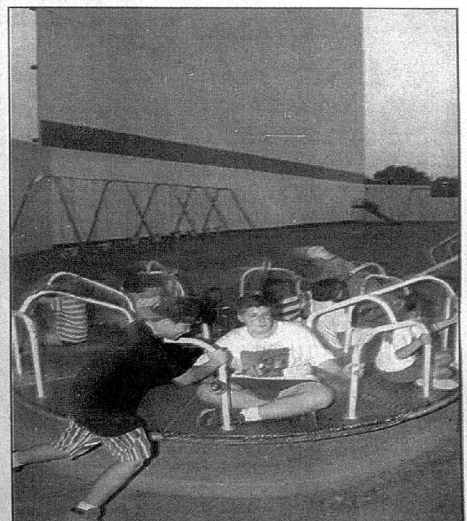

Twenty years later, Belleville's Skyview Drive-In Theatre is still going strong. "Halloween: H20" was showing last week.

Good living is the key to long life, 100-year-old says

By Becky Garrison
Staff writer

What is the secret to longevity? Belleville resident Minnie Hesse, who turned 100 years of age Sunday, knows the answer. "You have to lead a good Christian life," Hesse said. "That is the most important thing you can do. If you are a Christian, you will know what to do and not to do."

Hesse still lives by herself, cooking and doing her own laundry. She cooks soups and stews and makes her own muffins. Although she loves her independence, she fears she will have to give up making her bed soon.

Her apartment in Belleville looks like that of a typical grandmother, adorned with pictures of her children and hand-painted drawings carefully constructed by grandchildren.

Born in 1898 in a small town in Southern Illinois, she married Herman George Hesse in 1920 and moved to East St. Louis.

"We paid $2,050 for the house," Hesse said. "It was a one-bedroom house, but we made do."

Hesse couldn't remember the name of the town she was born in.

"They didn't have birth certificates back then, so you'd have to take my word for it," she laughed.

Hesse had two sons, Edwin and Vernon. Vernon passed away at the age of 72 and Edwin lives in Florida with his family. She has two grandchildren, two great-grandchildren and two great-great-grandchildren. She raised both of her sons in East St. Louis and sent both of them to college. She was married 40 years.

Hesse loves gardening and fondly remembers the garden she had at her home.

"The neighbors said it reminded them of Shaw's Garden," Hesse said. She added that her garden was featured in local newspapers.

Her hobby continued after she sold her home. She has a small garden that she oversees at her apartment.

When not gardening, Hesse enjoys communicating with her grandchildren.

"I recently received a letter from my granddaughter. I enjoyed it so much, I read it

"You have to lead a good Christian life. That is the most important thing you can do."
Minnie Hesse

three times," she said.

Hesse received a letter from President Clinton last week in celebration of her 100th birthday. She has seen many presidents, from William McKinley to Bill Clinton.

Her advice to the country is to forgive the president for his part in the Monica Lewinsky scandal.

"If this country is going to be so open about sex, then they shouldn't complain if the president is," she said.

She added that although she does not believe in sex before marriage, she shouldn't expect the president to be perfect.

Hesse quit driving about 15 years ago and can't get out to go to church. She listens to a TV ministry each Sunday.

"It would break people's hearts if they ever discontinued it," she said.

Diane Sharos of Belleville speaks highly of Hesse, who cared for her son for 15 years. She said Hesse answered her advertisement for a baby sitter when her son was 3-months-old.

"I was a single mother and very concerned about my son. I interviewed 30 people before I found Grandma Hesse," Sharos said.

Sharos said Hesse was 60 when she started caring for her son, George, and watched him while she worked until he was 15. She said Hesse cared for him many hours while she managed her own restaurant.

"She has been so inspirational and influential, she guided my son in so many ways," Sharos said. "I am grateful that Grandma Hesse was there for George."

Just as Hesse attributes a Christian life to her longevity, this 100-year-old has a trait of which many people only dream.

"I never let anything bother me," she said.

Ram 200 gets under way today

Truck race is third major event on Gateway track

By Scott Cousins
Staff writer

Qualifying gets under way today for the Ram 200 at Gateway International Raceway in Madison.

The NASCAR Craftsman Truck Series, pulling into Gateway for the first time, runs through Saturday.

The Ram 200 is the third of four major events at the track this year.

The Carquest Auto Parts 250, part of the Busch Series, Grand National Division, is set for Oct. 15-17.

Rod Wolter, president and general manager of the raceway, said he expected between 30,000 and 35,000 to attend the Ram 200.

"We've been told that a lot of the people for the truck race are walk-ups (ticket buyers)," he said. "We don't really have a feel for that until we've had one."

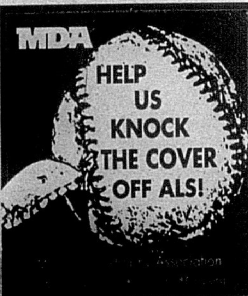

Track officials said they hope to bring a Winston Cup Series NASCAR race to the track by 2000. The top series in NASCAR racing, such a race would require space for approximately 100,000 fans.

Wolter said plans for lighting the track are being considered.

LOTTO

and his best friend, Joe, in "Simon Birch."

14-year-old marks 14th film role

Most people mark the passing of their years with candles. Joseph Mazzello does it with movies.

The teen actor was in St. Louis recently to talk about his latest film, Hollywood Pictures' "Simon Birch."

Mazzello stars as Joe Wentworth, best friend of the title character, in a tale of friendship and faith set in the late 1950s. Simon (Ian Michael Smith) believes he is destined to become a hero, but Joe is busy dealing with his own problems, like his mother's death and discovering his father's identity.

"When I read the script I just loved it, so I really wanted to get the part," Mazzello said. "So I made a tape of what I thought were the three hardest scenes in the movie and sent it to him (director Mark Steven Johnson).

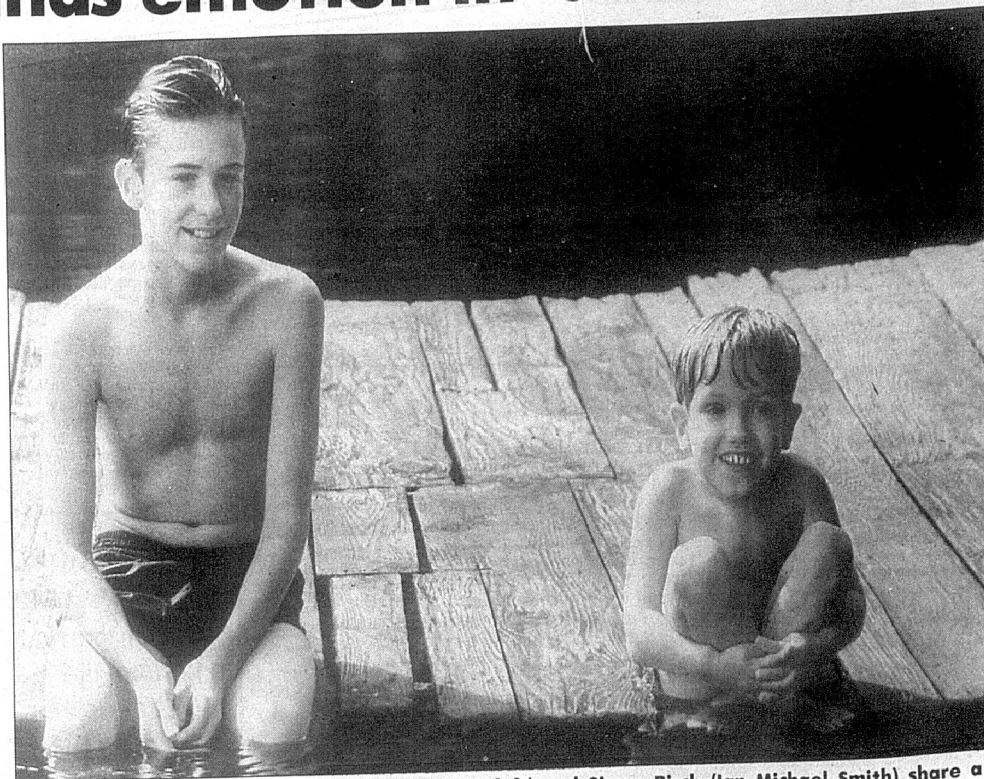

"It had a lot of emotional teeth in it, but it also had a lot of comedy, and they really balanced each other out well. I liked the friendship."

That film friendship carried over between the young leads.

"We became like brothers. We did a lot of things together, played video games and things," Mazzello said. "We shot a lot in a small town around Canada, so really all we had was each other."

Mazzello caught the acting bug from his sister, whom he used to mimic when she was at home rehearsing for her work in commercials. "I wanted to do the same thing my big sister was doing," he said.

He got his first job at age 5, in the television movie "Unspeakable Acts." From there he has appeared in such films as "Presumed Innocent,"

Best friends Joe Wentworth (Joseph Mazzello, left) and Simon Birch (Ian Michael Smith) share a common bond in the comedy/drama "Simon Birch."

"I'd like to keep doing at least one movie a year."

Joseph Mazzello

"Radio Flyer," "Jurassic Park," "Shadowlands" and "The River Wild." He has worked for directors Richard Donner and Steven Spielberg and with actors Harrison Ford, Meryl Streep and Anthony Hopkins.

Mazzello says he doesn't get star struck, except for possibly when meeting Jim Carrey, who plays Joe as an adult in "Simon Birch."

"I really like 'The Mask,' and I even made a tape for him when I was younger called 'The Little Mask' because I wanted to do a movie with

CALENDAR OF EVENTS

Benefits

The annual MS WALK is set for 9 a.m. Sept. 19 in Wilson Park in Granite City and five other Illinois and Missouri communities. The MS Walk supports research and service programs of the Gateway Area Chapter of the National Multiple Sclerosis Society.

Any individual, company or group that wants to participate is welcome to join. Walkers collect pledges from friends, family and co-workers to raise money that goes toward the Society's goal.

Granite City residents Darletha Lesar and Kathy Angle are chairing this year's MS Walk. To register, call (800) FIGHT-MS, online at www.mss.msos.org or fax at (314) 781-1440. On-site registration for the 1.2-mile walk starts at 8 a.m. Sept. 19 at the No. 8 Shelter in Wilson Park.

Community

Friends and family will pay tribute to an old friend from Venice on Saturday during the TRIBUTE TO MR. G. The public is invited to attend a tribute for James Alan Gardner Sr. — "Mr. G" — from 11 a.m. to 4 p.m. at the Venice Recreation Center in Venice.

Gardner, 79, is a retired teacher from the Madison School District. He also served as city treasurer for Venice and prepared income taxes for many people, especially residents of the Venice-Madison community, before his illness.

The Tribute to Mr. G. was the idea of Vernell Jackson, one of Gardner's first students at Dunbar School.

DEPARTMENT is sponsoring a barbecue from 11 a.m. to 6 p.m. Saturday at Fire Station No. 1 on E. Chain of Rocks Road.

Plates for $5 include a pork steak or two bratwursts, potato salad and cole slaw. Sandwiches for $3.50 include pork steak or bratwurst with chips. Hot dogs with chips are $1.50. Desserts are extra. Eat in or carry out.

For local deliveries, call 931-0161.

GOOD SHEPHERD UNITED METH-ODIST CHURCH is holding a spaghetti dinner from 3-6 p.m. Saturday at 3025 National. Prices are $4.50 for adults, $3.50 for children under 12. Carry-outs are available.

The TRI CITY NEIGHBORHOOD WATCH is holding its first picnic from 1 to 6 p.m. Sept. 19 at the Tri City Neighborhood Park, 12th and Meridian. All residents are welcome. Bring your own meat, drink and a side dish or desert to share. Picnic tables will be furnished.

The WEST GRANITE NEIGHBORHOOD WATCH is inviting all residents to a barbecue starting at noon Saturday at Barry Lohman Park. Bring lawn chairs and also a canned good for the upcoming holiday season. The canned goods will be donated to the West 22nd Street Baptist Church. For more information, call acting coordinator Darrell Williams at 452-5218.

The TRI-CITY SHRINE CLUB is holding a fish fry from 11 a.m. to 8 p.m. Friday and from 11 a.m. to 7 p.m. Saturday on the Schnucks parking lot. Plates are $4 each. Icelandic cod, french fries, slaw, pickles, onions, bread and condiments will be offered.

The JOLLY QUILTERS are sponsoring a Quilt Show from 9 a.m. to 2 p.m. Saturday at the Chouteau Township Hall, 906 Thorngate Dr. in Mitchell.

The winning quilt from the club's last show will be on display. Also on display will be some very old and some unique quilts.

Visitors will be given voting slips on which they can vote for their three favorite quilts. Owners of the quilts receiving the most votes will receive a certificate and a cash prize. The show will include and area for the sale of cloth crafts.

The public is invited and admission is free. For more information call Maxine Duniphan at 931-2714.

with him," Mazzello said. Mazzello doesn't share any screen time with Carrey in "Birch," but someone in the family does.

"His son in the movie is played by my brother," he said. While some might think working in film since age 5 robs one of their childhood, Mazzello disagrees.

"This is my childhood. Everybody does different things. Some kids do sports. I act. That's what I do best. I made Little League when I was 9, and 'Shadowlands' came along and my parents asked me, 'Do you want to keep doing baseball or do you want to do 'Shadowlands?'" And I chose 'Shadowlands.' "People say 'Oh, that's a pretty easy decision.' But when you're 9, it's not."

Mazzello credits his parents for keeping him level-headed. "My parents always keep me very down to earth. They don't even tell me how much money I make," he said. "When I go home I just kinda forget that I make movies and just try to be a normal kid."

Ads can outdo shows

Trivia

Kevin Carbery

By Kevin Carbery
Correspondent

Commercials sometimes are more entertaining than the programs on which they appear.

For instance, I like Louie the Lizard on the Budweiser commercials. The thought of an embittered amphibian snarling at the frogs tickles me. Which is not to say I have enjoyed all of the Anheuser-Busch ad campaigns. I hated Spuds McKenzie and was glad when those commercials finally completed their run.

I am partial to humor in ads, as opposed to cheap sentimentality. Which is why I enjoy the Taco Bell commercials featuring the Chihuahua and I do not look forward to most greeting card ads. Must they make their commercials so sappy?

I thought the old Polaroid commercials with James Garner and Mariette Hartley were entertaining. Those were the ads with the two of them snipping at each other. They were such a convincing couple that people thought they were an item, which they were not.

The Sprite soda reverse ads are pretty good. They are comical while pointing out celebrity spokesmen are no indication a product is right for you.

On the other hand, when I see the commercials with Michael Jordan guzzling Gatorade, it does make an impression on me. I want to be like Mike.

Finally, the Apple Macintosh commercial based on the novel "1984" that ran during the 1984 Super Bowl was more memorable than the game itself. Ever since that commercial aired, Super Bowl ads have received more and

Butterfly Center will open Friday

By Mary Shapiro
Staff writer

The metamorphosis took five years, but the Sophia M. Sachs Butterfly House and Education Center finally will emerge Friday to delight visitors.

The center, at 15193 Olive Blvd., is part of the Faust Park complex in Chesterfield. The facility is the first of its kind in the Midwest and only more attention, though no ad since has been as effective.

For this week's trivia quiz, the topic is commercials.

1. For what product was Michael Jackson filming a commercial when his hair caught on fire?

2. John Moschitta, a world-record fast-talker, first drew national attention by doing ads for what company?

3. Which local athlete made an exceptional TV ad parodying the "Mean" Joe Green commercial for Coke, in which Greene gave his jersey to a little kid?

4. Orson Wells said, "We will sell no wine before its time" while hawking what brand of wine?

5. The commercials for which brand of watch used to finish with the line, "It takes a licking and keeps on ticking?"

6. On Jan. 2, 1971, a ban kicked in keeping the commercials for what kind of product off television networks

7. Mikey actually did eat what kind of cereal when his brothers pushed it in front of him in a commercial from the 1970s?

8. Which automaker has run an ad in recent years in which dolls come to life and go for a ride in a toy car?

9. Bubba Smith said, "I also like the easy opening cans," in commercials for which beer?

10. In a commercial for which kind of candy does an old man find out he has painted "Chefs" instead of "Chiefs" in the Kansas City end zone?

Answers: 1. Pepsi-Cola. 2. Federal Express. He later appeared in commercials for other companies. 3. Dan Dierdorf, for Vess soda. It was a classic. 4. Paul Masson. 5. Timex. 6. Cigarettes. 7. Life cereal. 8. Nissan. 9. Lite Beer from Miller. 10. Snickers candy bars.

HOROSCOPE
THURSDAY,
SEPT. 17

The sun, Mercury and Venus in Virgo may not be enough to keep people at their desks when the Leo moon conjuncts Mars in Leo today. Everyone will be more intent on lively and penetrating conversation, perhaps with a secret love interest, than getting any work done. Enjoy the generous atmosphere while it lasts; sterner skies are just ahead.

ARIES (March 21-April 19). Positive strides toward wealth are linked to family. Many Aries could be promoted now. Being extra sensitive to a sweetheart's needs could bring you straight into a marriage proposal.

TODAY'S BIRTHDAY: Love relationships grow strong this year, especially new ones. October brings romance to singles who stay close to home. Couples find new common ground in a joint venture. You gain high social standing during January or February while pursuing religious, athletic or artistic arenas. Your best passion signs are Aries and Pisces. Your lucky numbers are 4, 6, 19 and 24.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20). Luck is connected to the arts and entertainment industry. Leo figures prominently in lucrative business. You are thrust into a diverse social scene — influential business contacts are made here.

GEMINI (May 21-June 21). Industrious attitudes are rewarded with special assignments. Keep vows and dates made to family, and a secret wish is honored. Virgo and Capricorn are excellent travel partners.

CANCER (June 22-July 22). Material possessions that have been difficult to obtain are given to you. Office tensions ease — problems solve themselves. You are able to yank a friend out of the blues and into a motivated state of being.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22). Rearrange your schedule to include more leisure — you'll actually make more money! Romance starts with a rather innocent request. You'll learn something that could change your opinion of a romantic partner for the better.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22). Let others know how much you appreciate attention to detail, and your life is filled with competent helpers. A new circle of friends will introduce you to an attractive counterpart. Ask what you were once afraid to ask.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23). A financial gain will please you (See HOROSCOPE, Page 10D)

Balloon race is Saturday

By Scott Hickey
Staff writer

The 26th annual Great Forest Park Balloon Race begins at noon Saturday with pony rides and plenty of activities sponsored by Energizer, Purina and Trans World Airlines.

At 1 p.m., Wehrenberg Theatres will conduct a photo contest while the balloons are inflating. It will be the only time during the day spectators will be allowed on the launch field to snap pictures.

At 2 p.m., the St. Louis Symphony Orchestra will perform a free open-air concert. At 3 p.m., the Pepsi Parachute Team is expected to thrill the crowd with a display of precision parachute jumping.

Sunday is the rain day if the event can't be held Saturday.

more for its creative potential than its leisure possibilities. A salesperson gets involved on a more personal level — a lasting friendship could result. Sharing simple pleasures is the way to bliss.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 21). Keep after other professionals to make good on their business promises. A wave of doubt about a current love will pass quickly — have faith that down deep we are all good.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21). Speedy decision-making keeps you abreast of the competition. A rebellious friend will try to bring you into an investment — the return is actually fantastic. Issues of honesty arise.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19). You are the recipient of good financial news. Singles get unconventional offers that are just crazy enough to work. A change in the home atmosphere has you feeling very ambitious.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18). Count and recount figures for maximum use of funds. Without intending to change your mind, a lover could do so by way of example. A business competitor is waiting for you to drop your guard — don't.

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20). Support your cause. A solid "yes" starts a romance rolling. Mystery is important in your business dealings — especially where Pisces and Aries are involved. Delve deeper into a curious family situation, and you'll get answers.

the ninth in the United States. Butterflies and moths can be seen flying about their new home from outside, through the triple-pane, laminated glass walls of the 8,000-square-foot conservatory.

A path to the building is made of butterfly-shaped stones, some inscribed to honor donors.

On both sides of the entry plaza are sculpture "gardens" displaying works by local artist Robert Cassily, such as a 30-foot-long concrete "Lopatapillar" caterpillar, honoring donors Stanley and Lucy Lopata. A large sculpture depicting a monarch butterfly will arrive later.

Inside, the Emerson Electric Co. Family Theater will provide a film on the life cycle of butterflies and a preview of attractions.

The Lopata Learning Lab will offer classes and demonstrations.

A computerized interactive display featuring butterflies from around the world is in the Whitaker Worldwide Resource Center.

The "Madame Butterfly" gift shop near the entrance will sell books, T-shirts, mugs and educational toys — all, of course, following the butterfly theme. Even the restroom signs include painted butterfly wings.

In the conservatory, about 1,000 giant insects — some with wingspans of nearly a foot — flutter under the 36-foot-high center vault and four other levels of skylights among tropical flowering plants, a pond and waterfall. They floated around people walking along trails, sometimes making a landing, during a recent preview of the facility for local media. A specially designed exit chamber with mirrors allows attendees to make visual once-overs to ensure they're not departing with some of the inhabitants.

Frank Elia, director of the facility, pointed out electric blue morphos from Costa Rica, ruby lacewings and giant swallowtails from Malaysia, goldbanded foresters from Kenya and some of the more than 60 other species in the conservatory.

The building faces the south, to make the most of the sun's heat and light, Elia said. A computer-controlled climate system keeps the temperature inside in the 80s, with relative humidity percentages in the 70s or 80s.

"If your glasses are fogging up, we're giving these guys exactly what they want," Elia said.

'Rounders' is tops in fall movie season opening

The fall movie season started with "Rounders" in first place at the box office, although summer hits such as "There's Something About Mary" showed staying power. "Rounders," with Matt Damon as a reformed card shark drawn into a deadly game, collected $8.8 million. The only other new film in the top 10 was "Simon Birch," which opened in fifth place with $3.3 million, according to industry estimates Sunday.

"Mary," the raunchy comedy that pulled itself up to No. 1 after eight weeks, fell to second place with about $8 million.

Other summer leftovers still doing good business included

"The studios are just starting to have faith in the audience distinguishing between fluff and great films. You're going to find fall-type films coming out more in the summer."

Paul Dergarabedian
Exhibitor president

"Blade," in third place with $5.2 million, and "Armageddon," which tied with "How Stella Got Her Groove Back" and approached the $200 million mark in ticket sales, according to Exhibitor Relations Co. Inc.

The strength of the holdovers could make it tougher in the fall season, when more than 140 movies will be released. Studios traditionally put out more thoughtful, quality fare for Oscar consideration in the fall, but a few serious films such as "Saving Private Ryan" cropped up amid this summer's blockbuster action fare.

"The studios are just starting to have faith in the audience distinguishing between fluff and great films," said Paul Dergarabedian, president of Exhibitor Relations. "You're going to find fall-type films coming out more in the summer."

Without a major star, special effects or slick marketing campaign, "Simon Birch" opened on only 596 screens — a third of the number for "Rounders" — because the studio wanted to build good word-of-mouth.

"It doesn't have built-in marketability ... it has to be allowed to percolate," said Phil Barlow, president of distribution for Buena Vista Pictures.

"We intentionally went out ahead of some of the more serious fare that comes out in October. We needed to be a big fish in the pond," he said. "You can't just throw it against the wall and pray."

It seemed to work. The sentimental story of a young dwarf who thinks God has destined him for great things had the highest average ticket sales per screen at $5,537, compared with $4,044 for "Rounders."

"Touch of Evil," the restored, 40th-anniversary version of Orson Welles' classic, opened with $65,272 on just three screens.

Here are estimated grosses for the top movies at North American theaters for Friday through Sunday as compiled by Exhibitor Relations Co. Inc.

1. "Rounders," $8.8 million.
2. "There's Something About Mary," $8 million.
3. "Blade," $5.2 million.
4. "Saving Private Ryan," $4.7 million.
5. "Simon Birch," $3.3 million.
6. "Ever After," $2.4 million.
7. "Knock Off," $1.9 million.
8. "Snake Eyes," $1.7 million.
9. "Armageddon," $1.6 million.
10. "How Stella Got Her Groove Back," $1.6 million.

Fall Children's Series opens Sept. 23 at BAC

There is only one place where you can find puppets walking about, marionettes singing holiday tunes, Lewis and Clark exploring America, or a comedian singing about a Tyrannosaurus Rex. That place is Belleville Area College during the 1998 Fall Children's Series.

The series, scheduled throughout the fall, is a set of musical or comedy programs designed to entertain and educate children ages 4-8 and their families.

Entertainers include Walkabout Puppets on Sept. 23; "The Adventures of Lewis and Clark" by Face to Face Productions on Oct. 21; comedy and music from Dave Rudolf on Nov. 18; and "Holiday Magic" by Bob Kramer's Marionettes on Dec. 9.

"Each of the entertainers has performed in the Children's Series before and are coming back by popular demand," said David Paeth, director of the Office of College Activities.

"Audiences look forward to this high-quality, innovative family entertainment."

All performances will be at 6:30 p.m. in the theater at the Belleville Campus, 2500 Carlyle Ave. Season tickets for the Children's Series are $10.

All children must be accompanied by an adult. Seating is limited and will be filled on a first-come, first-served basis.

Walkabout Puppets, a new puppet troupe from Oglesby, Ill., will open up the season. The puppet show is unique because the puppeteers walk around on stage in front of the audience manipulating the oversized puppets with their bodies, rather than standing behind a curtain as in a traditional puppet show.

The show is designed to help children build their imaginations. Audience participation is a major part of this production.
